Introduction

1. This is an appeal to the Tax Appeals Commission (“the Commission”) brought by ██████████ (“the Appellant”) under sections 195(6) and 949I of the Taxes Consolidation Act 1997 (“the TCA 1997”), against a failure by the Revenue Commissioners (“the Respondent”) to make a determination under section 195 of the TCA 1997 in relation to ██████████ book ██████████ (“the Work”).
2. On 12 July 2024, the Commission notified the Appellant and the Respondent that the Commissioner intended to adjudicate on this appeal without a hearing and informed the parties that they could request a hearing within 21 days of that notification. Neither of the parties has objected or requested a hearing. Accordingly, this appeal is adjudicated without a hearing, under section 949U of the TCA 1997.

Background

3. Section 195 of the TCA 1997 allows for an exemption from income tax for certain earnings of writers, composers, or artists. For the exemption to apply, the Respondent must make a determination under section 195(2) of the TCA 1997.
4. The Respondent submitted that on 9 October 2023, the Appellant submitted an application for a determination under section 195(2) of the TCA 1997 in respect of the Work.
5. On 23 October 2023, the Respondent wrote to the Appellant’s representative to inform him of its decision to refuse to make a determination in respect of the Work, on the ground that the Work was a work of non-fiction which did not come within the criteria for non-fiction work set out in paragraph 7(2)(b) of the guidelines drawn up under section 195 of the TCA 1997 by the Minister for Culture, Heritage and the Gaeltacht (“the Guidelines”). The Respondent stated that it was prepared to consider any further submissions in support of the Appellant’s application and informed the Appellant’s representative of the Appellant’s right to appeal its decision.
6. On 10 May 2024, the Appellant submitted a Notice of Appeal to the Commission.
7. On 20 June 2024, the Appellant’s representative informed the Commission that the Appellant had nothing further to add to ██████████ Notice of Appeal. On 9 July 2024, the Respondent submitted a Statement of Case.
8. The Commissioner has considered all of the documentation submitted by the parties in this appeal, including the Work.

Legislation and Guidelines

- 9. The legislation relevant to this appeal is contained in section 195 of the TCA 1997, a copy of which is enclosed at Appendix 1 to this determination.
- 10. A copy of the Guidelines is enclosed at Appendix 2 to this determination.

Submissions

Appellant

- 11. In [REDACTED] Notice of Appeal, the Appellant submitted (among other things):

“The book does offer “unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work and also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on the person or by changing the generally accepted understanding of the person,” as your criteria requires...

In the opening chapter, I explicitly frame the book’s content in autobiographical terms:

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

It is my understanding from paragraph 7(2)(e) of the guidelines that the entire book does not need to come within any one guideline and that any combination of the various criteria set out in paragraph 7(2) would be sufficient to meet the requirements for exemption. As a work of creative non-fiction, the book employs a hybrid approach, mixing autobiography, narrative journalism, and biography...The book acts as a biography of the people who I am communicating with, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Other books with very similar styles that have received the exemption include [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

My book is very widely regarded as pioneering both in Ireland and internationally,

Respondent

12. In its Statement of Case, the Respondent submitted (among other things):

“It is accepted by Revenue that this work is a book and that it comes within the categories of work listed in section 195(1) TCA 1997, under category (a) – a book or other writing...on examination of the book, Revenue determined that this book was a work of non-fiction...The work was examined by Revenue to see whether it came within paragraph 7(2)(b)(i) or paragraph 7(2)(b)(ii) of the guidelines and Revenue determined that the work did not come within the category of biography or autobiography as the subject matter of the book is [REDACTED]. Consideration was given to whether the work came within any of the other categories listed in Paragraph 7 of the guidelines and Revenue determined that it did not.”

Material Facts

13. Having read the documentation submitted, including the Work, the Commissioner makes the following findings of material fact:
 - 13.1. The Appellant is the author of the Work.
 - 13.2. The Work is a book of non-fiction.
 - 13.3. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
 - 13.4. On 9 October 2023, the Appellant made a claim for a determination under section 195(2) of the TCA 1997.
 - 13.5. On 23 October 2023, the Respondent failed to make a determination under section 195(2) on the ground that the Work did not meet the criteria as set out under the Guidelines.

Analysis

14. This appeal relates to the Respondent’s refusal of the Appellant’s claim for a determination under section 195(2) of the TCA 1997.
15. In an appeal before the Commission, the burden of proof rests on the Appellant, who in this appeal must show that the Respondent was incorrect to refuse to make a determination in relation to the Work. In the High Court case of Menolly Homes Ltd v Appeal Commissioners and another [2010] IEHC 49, Charleton J stated at paragraph 22 that:

“The burden of proof in this appeal process is, as in all taxation appeals, on the taxpayer. This is not a plenary civil hearing. It is an enquiry by the Appeal Commissioners as to whether the taxpayer has shown that the relevant tax is not payable”.
16. As the Appellant seeks to claim an exemption from tax, the Commissioner has had regard to the Supreme Court judgment of Revenue Commissioners v Doorley [1933] IR 750, in which Kennedy CJ stated:

“The Court is not, by greater indulgence in delimiting the area of exemptions, to enlarge their operation beyond what the statute, clearly and without doubt and in express terms, except for some good reason, from the burden of a tax thereby imposed generally on that description of subject-matter. As the imposition of, so the exemption from, the tax must be brought within the letter of the taxing Act as interpreted by the established canons of construction so far as applicable.”

17. The Commissioner has also had regard to the High Court judgment of Coleman v Revenue Commissioners [2014] IEHC 662, in which Donnelly J stated:

“On the basis of the decision in Doorley, the Appeal Commissioner was obliged to give effect to the clear and express terms of the legislation in considering the artist’s exemption from income tax. The liability to income tax having been established, that exemption must be brought within the letter of the Act of 1997 and the Guidelines made thereunder as interpreted by the established canons of construction. There was no basis in law for adopting any other approach to the interpretation of the Act and the Statutes.”

18. The Commissioner notes the Appellant’s submission that other books with similar styles have received an exemption under section 195 of the TCA 1997. However, in Coleman the High Court made clear that the question of whether other works have been granted an exemption is not a relevant factor for the Commissioner’s consideration. The Commissioner’s only function in this appeal is to determine whether the Work (and no other work) qualifies under section 195 of the TCA 1997.
19. The exemption authorised under section 195 of the TCA 1997 applies to a work which is both “an original and creative work” and one which has, or is generally recognised as having, “cultural or artistic merit”.
20. Section 195(12) of the TCA 1997 requires that guidelines are drawn up for the purposes of determining whether a work within a category specified in section 195(1) is “an original and creative work” and whether it has, or is generally recognised as having, “cultural or artistic merit”. Section 195(13)(a) of the TCA 1997 provides that the Respondent shall not determine that a work meets those criteria unless it complies with the Guidelines. Section 195(13)(b) of the TCA 1997 provides that section 195(13)(a) shall apply to a determination by the Appeal Commissioners in an appeal to them under section 195(6) of the TCA 1997. It is therefore clear that in determining whether the Work meets the criteria for exemption under section 195 of the TCA 1997, the Commissioner is statutorily obliged to apply the Guidelines.

21. Section 195(12)(b)(ii) of the TCA 1997 provides that the Guidelines may specify criteria by reference to which the questions whether works are original or creative or whether they have, or are generally recognised as having, cultural or artistic merit are to be determined. Paragraph 7 of the Guidelines specifies criteria, in accordance with section 195(12)(b)(ii), by reference to which those questions are to be determined in relation to a non-fiction book or other non-fiction writing.
22. Both the Appellant and the Respondent agree that the Work is a book of non-fiction and the Commissioner has found this to be a material fact. Accordingly, the exemption authorised under section 195 of the TCA 1997 will only apply to the Work if the Work satisfies the criteria set out in Paragraph 7 of the Guidelines.
23. In its Statement of Case, the Respondent stated that it had determined that the Work did not come within the category of biography or autobiography as the subject matter of the Work is migration. Having read the Work, the Commissioner notes that it contains discussion by the Appellant on the issue of migration, [REDACTED]. However, the Work as a whole includes other content, all of which the Commissioner must consider in this Determination. In [REDACTED] Notice of Appeal, the appellant submitted that “the book employs a hybrid approach, mixing autobiography, narrative journalism, and biography”. The Commissioner has therefore considered whether the Work falls within paragraphs 7(2)(b)(i) or (ii) of the Guidelines, which apply to a biography and an autobiography respectively.

Autobiography

24. The Commissioner has considered whether the Work falls under paragraph 7(2)(b)(ii) of the Guidelines, by virtue of being in the category of an autobiography that incorporates the author’s unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work and also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on the person or by changing the generally accepted understanding of the person.
25. The Commissioner understands the ordinary and natural meaning of the word “autobiography” to be a person’s account of their own life. For completeness, the Commissioner has consulted the Oxford English Dictionary, which defines “autobiography” as “an account of a person's life given by himself or herself, esp. one published in book form.” The Commissioner notes the Appellant’s submission that [REDACTED] frames the book in autobiographical terms. The Commissioner acknowledges that the Work contains certain autobiographical elements: for example, details of the Appellant’s educational and professional background, and reflections on the effect writing the Work had on [REDACTED]. However, the Commissioner is not satisfied that those elements amount

overall to an account of the Appellant's life. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Accordingly, the Commissioner considers that to find that the Work is in the category of an autobiography would be to expand the scope of exemption, against which the Supreme Court cautioned in Doorley.

26. Consequently, the Commissioner is not satisfied that the Work falls under paragraph 7(2)(b)(ii) of the Guidelines.

Biography

27. The Commissioner has then considered whether the Work falls under paragraph 7(2)(b)(i) of the Guidelines, by virtue of being in the category of a biography that incorporates the author's unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work and also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on the person or by changing the generally accepted understanding of the person.

28. The Commissioner understands the ordinary and natural meaning of the word "biography" to be an account of a person's life by another person. For completeness, the Commissioner has consulted the Oxford English Dictionary, which defines "biography" as "a written account of the life of an individual, esp. a historical or public figure; (also) a brief profile of a person's life or work." The Commissioner notes the Appellant's submission that the Work acts as a biography of the people with whom [REDACTED] communicates, [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. In considering this matter, the Commissioner has had particular regard to the following. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

29. The Commissioner notes that there is no requirement in either section 195 of the TCA 1997 or the Guidelines which sets out that a certain percentage or proportion of a non-fiction book must be biographical in order to satisfy paragraph 7(2)(b)(i) of the Guidelines. The Commissioner finds that a substantial part of the Work comprises the accounts of the lives of [REDACTED], which therefore permits the Commissioner to find that the Work is in the category of a biography.

30. Having found that the Work is in the category of a biography, the Commissioner must then consider whether it “incorporates the author’s unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work and also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on the person or by changing the generally accepted understanding of the person”, in accordance with paragraph 7(2)(b) of the Guidelines.

Unique Insight

31. In the Work, the Appellant states that the Work is based on interviews [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]. Furthermore, the Commissioner considers that the level of the Appellant’s contact with the subject matter of the Work is demonstrated by the detailed content of the Work. The Commissioner is therefore satisfied that the Work is shown to incorporate the Appellant’s unique insight into the subject matter.

Pioneering

32. The Commissioner must now turn to the question of whether the work is regarded as a pioneering work. The use of the phrase “is regarded” indicates to the Commissioner that she should consider how the Work is viewed externally. Accordingly, the Commissioner has noted the reviews and plaudits which the Work received and includes excerpts below:

[REDACTED]

33. The Commissioner notes that the Work is viewed as, for example, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] The Commissioner is satisfied on the basis of the commentary about the Work that the Work is regarded as pioneering, i.e. original or ground-breaking, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Significant Contribution

34. The Commissioner must then consider whether the Work also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter. In considering this question, the Commissioner has noted both the content of the Work and the commentary about the Work. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

35. It follows from the above that the Commissioner is satisfied that the Work falls under paragraph 7(2)(b) of the Guidelines and therefore qualifies for an exemption under section 195 of the TCA 1997.

Determination

36. For the reasons set out above, the Commissioner determines that the Respondent was incorrect to refuse to make a determination in relation to the Work under section 195 of the TCA 1997 and that the Appellant has satisfied the burden of proof.

37. This Appeal is determined in accordance with Part 40A of the TCA 1997 and in particular section 949U thereof. This determination contains full findings of fact and reasons for the determination, as required under section 949AJ(6) of the TCA 1997.

Notification

38. This determination complies with the notification requirements set out in section 949AJ of the TCA 1997, in particular section 949AJ(5) and section 949AJ(6) of the TCA 1997. For the avoidance of doubt, the parties are hereby notified of the determination under section 949AJ of the TCA 1997 and in particular the matters as required in section 949AJ(6) of the TCA 1997. This notification under section 949AJ of the TCA 1997 is being sent via digital email communication only (unless the Appellant opted for postal communication and communicated that option to the Commission). The parties will not receive any other notification of this determination by any other methods of communication.

Appeal

39. Any party dissatisfied with the determination has a right of appeal on a point or points of law only within 42 days after the date of the notification of this determination in accordance with the provisions set out in section 949AP of the TCA 1997. The Commission has no discretion to accept any request to appeal the determination outside the statutory time limit.

(ii) a rehearing by a judge of the Circuit Court of an appeal mentioned in subparagraph (i) and, to the extent necessary, to the determination by the High Court of any question of law arising on such an appeal or rehearing and specified in the statement of a case for the opinion of the High Court, by the Appeal Commissioners or, as the case may be, a judge of the Circuit Court.

(14) Where a determination has been or is made under clause (I) or (II) of subsection (2)(a)(ii) in relation to a work or works of a person, subsection (3)(a) shall not apply to any other work of that person that is in the same category as such work or works and is or was first published, produced or sold on or after the 3rd day of May, 1994, unless that other work is one that complies with the guidelines under subsection (12) for the time being in force and would qualify to be determined by the Revenue Commissioners as an original or creative work and as having, or being generally recognised as having, cultural or artistic merit.

(15) On application to the Revenue Commissioners in that behalf by any person, the Revenue Commissioners shall supply the person free of charge with a copy of any guidelines under subsection (12) for the time being in force.

(16) (a) The Revenue Commissioners may publish, or cause to be published, the name of an individual who is the subject of a determination under subsection (2).

Appendix 2

Guidelines drawn up under Section 195(2) of the Taxes Consolidation Act 1997 for the Artists Exemption Scheme by An Comhairle Ealaíon and the Minister for Arts, Heritage and the Gaeltacht.

Introduction

These Guidelines have been drawn up under the provisions of Section 195 of the Taxes Consolidation Act 1997 for the purposes of determining whether a work within a category specified in subsection (1) is an original and creative work and whether it has, or is generally recognised as having cultural or artistic merit.

General

1. Section 195(1) provides that a “work” for the purposes of the Section must be both an original and creative work in one of the following categories, namely:

- (a) a book or other writing,*
- (b) a play,*
- (c) a musical composition,*
- (d) a painting or other like picture,*
- (e) a sculpture.*

2. To secure exemption under Section 195, a work must be determined by the Revenue Commissioners to be a work which is both original and creative and a work which has, or is generally recognised as having, either cultural or artistic merit.

3. In making a determination under Section 195, the Revenue Commissioners may, as provided for in that Section, consult with such person or body of persons as may, in their opinion, be of assistance to them.

Original and Creative

4. A work shall be regarded as original and creative only if it is a unique work of creative quality brought into existence by the exercise of its creator's imagination.

Cultural Merit

5. A work shall be regarded as having cultural merit only if by reason of its quality of form and/or content it enhances to a significant degree one or more aspects of national or international culture.

Artistic Merit

6. A work shall be regarded as having artistic merit only if its quality of form and/or content enhances to a significant degree the canon of work in the relevant category.

Criteria for Non-fiction Work

7. (1) This paragraph specifies criteria, in accordance with subsection (12)(b)(ii) of Section 195, by reference to which the questions whether a work, being a nonfiction book or other nonfiction writing, is original and creative and whether it has, or is generally recognised as having, cultural or artistic merit are to be determined.

(2) The criteria are:

(a) that the work, in the opinion of the Revenue Commissioners, following consultation with the Arts Council, is a work in one or more of the following categories: (i)

arts criticism,

(ii) arts history,

(iii) arts subject work, being a work the subject matter of which is, or is any combination of, visual arts, theatre, literature, music, dance, opera, film, circus or architecture,

(iv) artists' diaries,

(v) belles-lettres essays,

(vi) literary translation,

(vii) literary criticism,

(viii) literary history,

(ix) literary diaries, that incorporates the author's unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work and also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on it or by changing the generally accepted understanding of it,

or

(b) that the work, in the opinion of the Revenue Commissioners, is a work in one of the following categories:

(i) a biography,

(ii) an autobiography, that incorporates the author's unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work and also makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on the person or by changing the generally accepted understanding of the person,

or

(c) that the work, in the opinion of the Revenue Commissioners following consultation with the Heritage Council,

(i) is a work related to a function or functions of the Heritage Council as described in the Heritage Act 1995, and

(ii) incorporates the author's unique insight into the subject matter and is regarded as a pioneering work that makes a significant contribution to the subject matter by casting new light on it or by changing the generally accepted understanding of it,

or
